LAYER PLANS FOR BOYS AT CAMP DIX

By Telegraph to The Freeman
London, Oct. 25.—Hike to Garbage Disposal Post Promotes Appetite—Preparing to Vote.

Co. F, 303rd Engs., Camp Dix, N. J., Monday, October 22.—What is the matter with the Freeman. Since you raised the price they are no valuable to have staying around over New Jersey. I have just received one bundle now dated Wednesday, October 17, which were addressed to Co. L, 303rd Engineers.

There is no L Company they must have changed for I have missed valuable news and by the way the paper of the 17th was pretty good. I see you are able to get out a good paper even though a lot of the boys have left town.

"I said 'Comfats' at home," said the Engineers. "Nough very company in the 303rd had a player piano in the mess hall. Ours has been going since the cover was taken off. It is a Kodak and a very good one. As there are no players here there has been a lot of singing.

The first Company F had a ball for guard and I went to the second relief post. The boys sure are green. As much about it, but I had at the armory. I had a very nice idea of a ball and I think I could go through a ball and get it nearer O. I think the men did tonight. It is surprising how much we learned from Mr. Rodie in so short a time. As a matter of fact I have learned nothing new since I have been down here except manual arms and how to dig a ditch.

I wish I had been up to Company L and got some of that jelly. I am as hungry as a bear and what was a good meal when I came down here now is only a taste. I never used to go up for a second helping but a second helping of hash or beans don't get by me now. I have a scheme now whereby I sometimes get three helpings, but one other fellow here in the camp. He got five at one meal. He has even lost his army manners.

Today they took us for a hike over to the garbage disposal plant and down through a swamp and through the woods and out past the magazines back home, and let me tell you they ran short of everything at dinner. I had to fill up on bread, tea and bread pudding.

Tonight some girl came to see her "gentleman friend" and he invited her to supper. There was great excitement in the mess hall and one fellow I won't mention names, got so excited he tried to eat his tea with my fork, but found it could not be done.

I think we will soon get our rifles and then we will have some job. We now have 80 in the company and must take turns at using them.

By the way, I told you I was a pioneer regiment and I now learn we have stables. This may mean that we are to be mounted. I was asked when I came here if I could ride.

We are not of necessity connected with this division. We seem to be at present an unattached pioneer regiment. Another engineer regiment is here in camp. The 303rd is a six company regiment. A. B. C. D. E. and F companies. We are located here all by ourselves, away from everyone. It is too much for me. I can't do it out. Our officers continue to talk about the November 15, two months drill, France by Christmas, and being "ready for the spring drive," and then turn and say "If you ever get to France" such and such a thing will happen. It makes me dizzy.

Tattoo just sounded and I have to make up my bunk before lights go out.

(6:20 Tuesday morning.) Yesterday afternoon we all signed a paper which entitles us to vote this fall. Only the New York state men did this and the Jersey boys. I suppose, will go home or perhaps register later.

Tomorrow is to be a great day here in camp. There are to be all sorts of games and contests and we get the day off to celebrate Liberty Loan Day.

I just went out and signed up for two Liberty Bonds. The fellows in this company are men used to big salaries and they don't see how they can live on $30 a month, let alone buy bonds. They will find out $30 here amounts to considerable.

Agnew, who bunks with me, was a state highway man drawing $100 a month. The fellow across the aisle, who is a fine chap named Kelly, was a bridge inspector on the N. Y. C. R. R. between Albany and Syracuse. He is a Dartmouth man. We travel around a bit together. At college he played on the football team and is some player. He wants to go out for the team here but thinks he is too old. He is 26.

GERMAN DRIVE PUZZLES LONDON

By Telegraph to The Freeman
London, Oct. 25.—The real purpose of the Austro-German drive on the Italian front was a matter of speculation among military experts here today. Three opinions were advanced.

1.—That the Teutons are undertaking a strategic maneuver to bolster up the drooping spirits of the German and Austro-Hungarian populations.

2.—That it is a military operation to divert the attention of the allies from the western front; or

3.—That it is an effort at a real offensive in which all the available resources of Germany and Austria-Hungary will be thrown into the scale to defeat Italy.

Although the situation on the Russian front has enabled the Austro-Germans to move large numbers of reinforcements in both men and guns from that theater of war to the Italian fighting zone, supreme confidence is felt in Rome that the drive will fail and that same confidence is echoed here and in Paris.

In spite of the careful preparations for the offensive and the fact that it is being directed by the German general staff, the gains made by the Teutons in their first thrust were negligible and the number of prisoners taken but a mere handful compared with the results achieved by the Italians in the initial phase of their last offensive.

Italy knew that the blow was coming and prepared to meet it and there is every indication that the Teutonic rush will be stopped dead in its tracks before the sturdy resistance of General Cadorna's gallant Italian army.

THE BOY SCOUTS AND THE LIBERTY BONDS

The Boy Scouts of Kingston are doing splendid work in the Second Liberty Loan by securing a large number of subscribers to the bonds. The following is a report of the sales for Wednesday, October 24, and also the total sales to date. The sales for Wednesday, October 24, were:

Troop 1, 42 bonds	$ 4,150
Troop 4, 44 bonds	4,900
Troop 5, 54 bonds	3,250
Troop 6, 17 bonds	2,300
Total, 157 bonds	$14,600

The total sales made up to Wednesday at 9 p. m. were:

Troop 1, 55 bonds	$ 5,000
Troop 4, 81 bonds	9,000
Troop 5, 88 bonds	10,850
Troop 6, 31 bonds	4,400
Grand total, 255 bonds	$29,250

All the Scouts of the city are expected to report for military instruction at the armory on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. George Whittaker has charge of the drill and no Scout should miss the opportunity of attending.

PRACTICING WHAT HE PREACHED

As Judge Clearwater stated at the close of his address last evening, he practices what he preaches. In closing he said that he had already subscribed to the Liberty Loan about all he felt he could afford, but thought he should practice to the limit what he advised others to do, and he would hand to Edward Coykendall, the chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, who had devoted his time, his energy and his rare financial talent to the filling of Kingston's quota of the loan, his subscription for $5,000, additional to the amount he already had subscribed, and he added that he had in his pocket a letter from a lady, one of his clients who subscribed for $2,000, which subscription also he would hand to Mr. Coykendall.

Fourth Ward Liberty Loan.

The Liberty Loan committee covering the Fourth ward will hold a meeting this evening at 9 o'clock at the polling place, Hasbrouck avenue and Delaware avenue, at which time it is requested that all of the helpers be present. The purpose of the meeting is to compare notes so that any of the district which may have been left uncovered can be cared for on Friday.

Another Paper Stops Publication.

J. K. P. Jackson has discontinued the publication of the Utilitarian at Margaretville and has sold the plant to the Catskill Mountain News. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will go to Roscoe and reside with their daughter, Mrs. C. M. Allaben, while Mr. Allaben is serving his country at the front.

At Benedictine Sanitarium.

Miss Ethel Griffin was conveyed from 95 Green street to the Benedictine Sanitarium in the city ambulance on Wednesday.

Wednesday Mrs. C. Alsdorf was conveyed from the Union Station to the Benedictine Sanitarium in the city ambulance.

THRIFT CAMPAIGN YIELDED $96.70

This morning a communication was received at Red Cross Headquarters from Charles Mac Curdy, relative to the recent "Thrift Campaign," and enclosing American Express orders to the amount of $96.70, the result of the campaign in this city. The letter was as follows:

The Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, Gentlemen:

I beg to submit to you the following report of the result of the Thrift Campaign which was conducted for your chapter during the week of October 15th.

The gross weight of the matter collected as indicated on enclosed memorandum copy of the bill of lading, was 10,100 pounds. The weight of 4,300 paper bags used in the campaign was 430 pounds, which being deducted, leaves a net weight of 9,670 pounds, in payment for which I am pleased to send you American Express orders for $96.70, settlement being at the rate of one cent per pound, as agreed.

I am enclosing you an original and two copies of receipts for the amount. I would be glad if you will sign all three of them, and send to me at Margaretville, N. Y. I may use the extra copies for my representatives for their advance work. I regret that the opposition which developed so materially effected the final results but nevertheless I will be glad to take up this matter with you next year, when I hope these campaigns will be recommended and endorsed by a nation-wide public sentiment, if not by some national organization.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) CHARLES MAC CURDY.

AINSE BATTLE A GREAT VICTORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman
Paris, Oct. 25.—Every report that came from the Aisne river battlefield today emphasized the magnitude of the victory which the French gained over the German crown prince's army on Tuesday.

So badly shattered was the German army south of Laon that it would deliver no counter attacks, but spent all of Wednesday bemoaning the new French positions.

All of the newly won ground has been consolidated by the French troops and they have been busy since Tuesday night removing booty from the great cavern fortresses formerly held by the Germans.

The number of German prisoners taken by the French has now been increased to about 9,000 while 75 German guns of all calibre were included in the booty.

The capture of numerous strategic heights east and west of the Soissons-Laon road may compel the Germans to fall back still further at the lightest pressure from the French army.

The French are almost into Aulny which is only a little less than eight miles from Laon fortress.

PLAINTIFF WINS INSURANCE CASE

Jury Returned Verdict For $1,175.

The Full Amount of the Policy—Action was Brought by Mrs. Williams Against Pioneer Cooperative Fire Insurance Company.

After about forty minutes deliberation the jury in the case of Mrs. Hattie Williams of Newark, N. J., against the Pioneer Cooperative Fire Insurance Company, returned a verdict for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Williams's property which was insured was a dwelling house, barn, and cookhouse, located near Summitville, on what is known as the Stanton place.

These three buildings mentioned were destroyed by fire in December, 1916, and the fire insurance claims were not paid, the company alleging over valuation of property, and also claiming that the property in question was not occupied ten days prior to the date of fire, making the policy invalid.

Mr. McComb's Testimony.

William McComb, whom the plaintiff alleged occupied the property in question within ten days of the date of the fire, was put on the witness stand Wednesday afternoon and his replies to the questions asked by the attorneys, furnished much amusement to the spectators and lawyers in the court room, and even the court had difficulty in suppressing a broad smile.

"Be golly, you've got me," was Mr. McComb's answer to many of the questions asked him. His memory was poor when it came to answering questions, but in regard to telling his present and past, he wanted to tell much of his history. In fact, so much, that the court had to tell him that he was talking too much.

Case No. 3.

A jury was drawn for case No. 3. Wednesday afternoon, and this is an action to determine the validity of the will of the late Vernon D. Lake.

LIBERTY DAY SUBSCRIPTIONS $1,000,000,000

By Telegraph to The Freeman
Washington, Oct. 25.—Subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan on Liberty Day totaled nearly one billion dollars.

Treasury department officials believed this afternoon that the minimum total for the loan—three billion—was over-subscribed by half a billion dollars yesterday.

"Subscriptions to the loan are known to be in excess of $3,000,000,000," said an official treasury department statement this afternoon. This fact was made certain today when official reports from all federal reserve banks, except those at Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia, showed that total sales reported to them at the close of business yesterday were slightly more than $2,100,000,000. Unreported official and unofficial figures added to this total certainly will carry the grand total to more than three billion."

Later the treasury issued this statement:

Many careful observers believe total subscriptions now approximate three and a half billion dollars, although there is no official basis for this. They estimate, however, that official returns from the three missing districts will bring the total to the neighborhood of $2,500,000,000, and added to this amount then would be subscriptions made before yesterday which have not been reported to the federal reserve banks and subscriptions made since the close of business yesterday. Under ordinary circumstances it would be safe to calculate that the official figures now would be $1,000,000,000 less than the unofficial amount. At all events the sale is a tremendous success. The $5,000,000,000 maximum mark no longer seems improbable and it certainly is possible if the committees will continue the pace set yesterday."

AUSTRO GERMAN BATTER ITALIAN ARMY

By Telegraph to The Freeman
Berlin, Oct. 25.—Reinforced by 100,000 men, the Austro-German army on the Italian front is today battering the Italian battle line over a front of twenty miles in an effort to break through.

This new offensive, which is reported to have been planned by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, has already resulted in important gains for the Teutons around Flitsch, Tolmein and the northern slope of the Bainsizza Plateau.

More than 3,500 Italian prisoners have been captured, according to an unofficial dispatch from the battle zone.

If the Teutonic armies are successful in their drive the Italian hold up on Gorizia and Monte San Gabriele will be menaced and the Italian pressure against Trieste will be materially lessened if not removed entirely.

The war office statement on the operations against the Italians is the first to come from this official source since the entrance of Italy into the war.

Great masses of concentrated guns of big calibre began bombarding the Italians in the Tyrolean and Carnic Alps and along the upper Isonzo on Sunday, the fire increasing to the greatest intensity. Fog and snow flurries at times hampered the work of observation but the guns were kept thundering up to the hour for the attack.

The attack and assault was launched simultaneously all along a front of twenty miles and, despite the stiff resistance of the Italian warriors, the Germans occupied a number of first line trench systems.

In the preliminary bombardment the German and Austro-Hungarian artillery used large quantities of a new fashioned gas shell against the Italians.

At latest accounts the battle was continuing.

CASHIN ON THE JOB.

Makes One of First Arrests by New State Police.

One of the first arrests made by the new State Military Police was reported Wednesday when Sergeant Francis A. Wightwick and Trooper Cashin brought into the White Plains station of the organization James Carpenter of No. 53 Hamilton Place, and John Redmond of 126th street and Columbia avenue, Manhattan, and charged the prisoners with robbing the garage of Auld's Brothers, at Croton-on-Hudson last Saturday night of 27 automobiles, $300 worth of tubes and inner tires and a cash register. The state policeman recovered some of the loot.

In the Surrogate's Court.

In the surrogate's court today, Surrogate Gill granted letters of administration on the estate of Anna M. Fiero of the town of Saugerties to Nicholas Fiero. The value of the estate is $275 personal property. George F. Kaufman appeared for the administrator.

"BUY A BOND I HAVE DONE SO"

The Rev. Adam Schmiltzkonz, Pastor of the Spring Street German Lutheran Church, Believes in Actions Instead of Mere Words.

As still another proof of the loyalty of our American citizens of German birth, the following very interesting interview written by Rev. Adam Schmiltzkonz, of the German Lutheran Church of Spring Street, speaks for itself. No doubt the majority of our German born citizens are giving the same loyal support as Mr. Schmiltzkonz:

"In reply to your favor of October 16th, requesting me to write an interview on Liberty Bonds, I beg to say, that so much has been said and written about it that very little is left to say or write. The only thing to do is to buy a bond. I have purchased one and no doubt other citizens of German birth or descent will do the same, realizing their obligations and duties toward our country."

QUESTION RIGHT OF STUDENTS TO VOTE

Proceedings Taken by Deputy Superintendent of Elections to Strike From Registry Lists Names of Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary Students.

Proceedings have been taken by John J. Gardner, as deputy state superintendent of elections, to remove from the registry list of Election District No. 3 of the town of Esopus the names of thirty-six students at Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary at Esopus, on the ground that inasmuch as they are students at the seminary, they are not residents of the election district within the meaning of the law, and therefore are not entitled to vote there.

The matter came on for hearing before Judge J. J. Gardner in court chambers this morning and was adjourned until Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The proceedings taken by Deputy State Superintendent Gardner are against the thirty-six students and also against Daniel Freer, Richard J. Gardner, Elmer Lund and Darius Wagner, as inspectors of election of the district. The inspectors are required to show cause why they should not cancel the names on the registry list of the district and the students are required to show cause why their names should not be removed.

Under the election law, notice of the proceeding is required to be given to the chairmen of the Republican and Democratic county committees.

The petition of Deputy State Superintendent Gardner alleges that the thirty-six students are not residents of the election district within the meaning of the law and therefore not entitled to vote, his allegations being founded on the information furnished by the registry cards and conversation with the Rev. Father Fisher of the Esopus Seminary.

When the matter was called before Judge Jenkins, Deputy Attorney General Arthur E. Rose, formerly of this city, represented Deputy State Superintendent Gardner. Election Inspectors Daniel Freer and Richard J. Gardner appeared personally; County Chairman Philip Elting, of the Republican county committee, appeared personally; Roscoe Irwin, with William H. Grogan, of counsel, appeared for the registrants and for County Chairman Joseph J. McGrath, of the Democratic county committee; Election Commissioner Frank W. Brooks appeared for himself and John A. Nock, constituting the board of elections, who are the custodians of the primary records of the county.

The students against whom the proceedings are taken are: Joseph O. Trock, Joseph F. Petrore, John R. O'Keefe, Harold Wilson, Geoffrey Howe, John P. O'Connor, Thomas J. Gummer, Michael Golden, Martin E. Gounley, Charles A. Gersterlanes, Francis J. Fisher, Francis L. Funk, Francis Fitzsimmons, Alphonse Funk, Mark A. DeCoste, Charles A. Daly, Joseph P. Daley, John Desakiewicz, Joseph Duscher, Anthony Cosaro, Eusebio Caruso, Thomas Cronin, Leo Clifford, Joseph A. Coughlin, Edward Baumann, Robert Boesche, Albert G. Braun, Francis J. Bader, James J. Bolger, John K. Boleman, Joseph A. Andres, Charles J. Augenthaler, Joseph A. Jordan, Martin F. Leddy, Emil G. Kessley, Thomas F. Lapeley.

For the past two years protest have been filed against certain students of the Mount St. Alphonsus Seminary voting, on the ground that they were not residents of the district, but no proceedings have been taken. Proceedings have been taken in other years in other parts of the state to determine the right of seminary students to vote, but this is the first year that such proceedings have been taken in Ulster county.

No Arrests During Night.

No arrests were made during the night by the police and no cases were brought to the attention of Recorder Lang this morning. Arthur Dolson, who was arrested Tuesday by Officer O'Neil for running his auto on the road side of an iron cap, paid a fine of $1.

OUR LIBERTY LOAN PASSES $1,000,000

At a meeting of the Liberty Loan Committee, held at the court house on Wednesday afternoon, the returns for the Liberty Loan were carefully checked up. It is estimated that Kingston has passed the million dollar mark, and it is hoped that before sunset Friday night it will have passed the quota.

Now we do not want the boys of Kingston have fallen down on their work, when the boys are so nobly doing their part.

THE POWER BEHIND A LIBERTY BOND

Mr. Van Buren Tells Teachers That It Is The Spirit Of A Great People Which Germany Fears.

Alfred D. Van Buren addressed the teachers' institute at the Kingston High School this morning on the subject of the Liberty Loan.

He said:

No gathering in the city of Kingston during the past two weeks has been safe from attack by the "Four Minute Men" upon the subject of Liberty Loan. When asked to appear before you this morning to say a few words concerning this important matter, I wish to confess that I accepted the invitation with considerable diffidence. The successful speaker or artist is not the one who arouses the emotion to enthusiasm which dwindles and fades but rather the one who fans into flame the hidden purposes behind such a convention as this. As you know, the government has requested a loan among its people of three billions of dollars. Bear in mind this is not a tax or something taken from you by force but an invitation to voluntarily participate in the great cause of liberty. I have heard considerable talk urging people to take the Liberty Bond because there is no better investment and I have sometimes wondered what manner of dividend these people have had in mind.

What makes this book in my hand valuable—surely it is not the 130 pages of text, although none is going some nowadays, but print on its pages the immortal stanzas of the hymn you have just sung and it becomes a live book of beautiful harmony.

What makes this great book on this pulpit valuable? Is it the fine paper and beautiful leather cover? No, but open to revelations and you breathe the life of the bible.

WHAT MAKES THE LIBERTY BOND VALUABLE? Is it the 240 tons of heavy parchment with the beautiful engraving and cuts little coupon slips attached? No, but that which makes it precious is the great moral ideals and determination of a united people. The enemy does not fear our dollars but if they could be made to realize that back of the billions so freely given by a free people is the determination to see this thing through, the war would soon be ended.

I am not here to talk of the horrors of war and the necessity of clothing, fitting and arming the best blood of our land who have offered their lives. I might picture our gallant soldiers in France, the Rainbow Division at Mincola or the Great National Army assembled in the huge cantonments all over the country—but I have in mind another army whose eager faces and happy smiles are turned to us in confidence and hope—the army of the future. Civilization, education and religion were sweet sounding words a short while ago and we looked up to them in respect and hope and admiration but when this Great War broke upon us with the suddenness and fury of Vesuvius, the very air seemed charged with doubt and suspicion, and I have at times wondered if even education were not a myth and a superstition! A giant has come forth from the ranks of the Philistines and at his frightful challenge for battle we see here the world living in the ground like so many rats and the instruments of science and industry converted into implements of torture and death. No matter what the result of this war may be, it is certain that many of our text books will be consigned to the rubbish heap. Geography, civics, economics, philosophy and perhaps astronomy will have to be revised and re-written. Tear out all the pages of history, if you will, but still teach the great truth that this government is of the people, by the people and for the people. Tear up the pages of physiology, civics and economics, if you will, but help to teach the coming generation that we are a people dedicated to liberty and develop a race strong to uphold our glorious heritage.

The government is not asking for your arms or charity, but rather that each of us do our bit and return to the common cause the many blessings we have inherited, among them free education.

I know the many demands that are made upon you. Patriotism, like charity, is too often taken up, prescription and in tablet form. These days when we cannot buy two pounds of sugar it is almost absurd to talk about eating but surely we can do something and it is for you do.

DAY'S WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE

Developments of the highest possible importance and of world-wide interest have marked the war situation during the past 24 hours. Briefly they are:

A great new army, composed of German and Austro-Hungarian troops, and supported by German artillery, has begun an offensive against the Italians. Ground has been gained at three points along a twenty-mile front, from Flitsch to the Bainsizza Plateau, but the Italian lines are holding firm. This is the first time that a German army has been sent into the Italian theater of war and the action of the German general staff in doing so is considered as highly significant.

Following the great French victory north of the Aisne river in France, where the French are driving against the defenses of the German fortress of Laon, indications have arisen pointing to another German retirement. French aviators report that the Germans are falling off bridges and railways just as they did before their retreat from the Somme. It is reported also that the Germans have ordered the civilian population to evacuate Meuse on the Franco-Belgian frontier.

The Russian civilian population has begun the evacuation of Kronstadt, the chief fortress defending Petrograd on the sea side. It is officially announced in the Russian capital. This indicates that the Russians fear that the mighty German fleet in the Baltic will force the Gulf of Finland in an effort to get at Petrograd. Kronstadt is the main base of Russia's Baltic sea fleet. Offsetting this, however, was the official announcement of the Russian war fleet that the Germans continue to fall back along the northern end of the eastern front.

ALIEN WHO KNEW A GOOD INVESTMENT

able to speak both a few English words. He has been known in the Liberty Bonds—Could Not "Fool" This Boy Scout.

This week's campaign to secure Liberty Loan subscriptions has brought to light several human interest stories, and among the best of the lot is the one of the alien, a foreigner speaking but a few words of English, who still realized that Uncle Sam afforded him an unexcelled opportunity for safely disposing of his money by investing in Liberty Bonds.

This foreigner walked into a local bank the other day and in scarcely understandable English said he wanted to buy a Liberty Bond. The clerk to whom he made the request glanced at him and judging by his clothes that all he could afford to buy was a $50 bond on weekly installments asked him if that was the amount he wanted to invest.

The alien shook his head emphatically and replied crisply, "Bigger, bigger."

"Want a $100 bond?" asked the clerk.

"Bigger, bigger," replied the alien. "How about a $500 bond?" queried the clerk.

"Bigger, bigger," retorted the alien.

Finally the clerk asked him, "How about a $1,000 bond?"

"Give me two," replied the alien in broken English, and reaching down into his pocket he produced the two thousand dollars in cash.

Couldn't "String" Him.

The other story is the experience of one of the Boy Scouts who helped to make a house to house canvass in behalf of the Liberty Loan. In order to help him out a man he accosted handed him an application for $2,000 worth of bonds.

The Boy Scout failed to turn in the application and when an investigation was later made he was asked the reason for not turning it in and replied angrily, "You bet no one can string me."

It is hardly necessary to state that he had not realized that any one was willing to purchase that amount of bonds.

Want Work on Farms.

The Bureau of Farm Settlement, under the State Department of Agriculture, located at 510 Jay street, Brooklyn, receives daily applicants for farm jobs. The farmers of Ulster county should make application through their County Farm Bureau if they are in need of help. There is no charge to employer or employee for the service.

teachers to set the example of true patriotism and love of country. I can almost hear that Goliath of Prussia, with his swarzer and his sneer and his leer shout at you teachers here this morning "Am I a nog that you come forth to fight me with staves?" Let us select some nice new, clean one dollar bills, convert them into a Liberty Bond and in the name of the Great Jehovah, speed it on its way. Do not let us take it out in thinking or what is still worse—indifference—but with lowly us, let us say, that "He loves truth best who to himself is true and what he dares to dream of, dares to do something and it is for you do."

OLIVE REPUBLICAN FOR SUPERVISOR

Jesse Shurter of Samsonville, Republican Nominee, is Young Man of Business Ability Who is Entitled to Majority in That Town.

Town of Olive Republicans have nominated for the office of supervisor of that town Jesse Shurter of Samsonville, who is among the young Republicans of the town who believe in honest government, political non-partisanship and a square deal for everyone.

JESSE SHURTER

Mr. Shurter in maintaining these ideals is in full sympathy with the Republican policy that has been followed in this county and he can be depended on to support fully the highest ideals which have made the county government satisfactory to the taxpayers.

Mr. Shurter is engaged in the milling business at Samsonville where he is highly regarded by his neighbors and friends. He is regarded as an indication of his character and what may be expected of him as a member of the board of supervisors.

Mr. Shurter is 26 years old, is married and has two children, a girl 10 years old and a boy three years old.

LATTINGTOWN

Lattigtown Oct 25.—With the exception of recent rains which were needed this fall to fill brooks, wells and reservoirs the weather has been favorable for gathering fruits and grains in this neighborhood.

Wilbur Mackey and sister of Loughkeepsie have been home for a brief visit.

The Messes Maste and Annie Odell of Loughkeepsie have been home for a brief visit.

C. A. Woolley who has been sick for a few days is around again.

F. D. Odell has purchased a new Ford truck for farm use.

The infant daughter of Mrs. L. W. Craft who has been seriously ill is better.

Mr. Flier, Miss Burritt and Miss Denman of Newburgh and Miss Minnie Adams of Hartford Conn. motored for a call on Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Reynolds Monday evening.

The Republican caucus held in Wallborough was the largest attended in years.

One of the Italian families residing in Mrs. Cation's house has gone to New York.

The grape juice man, Shuhle of Lattigtown is paying $65 per ton for grapes this season and hundreds of fruit growers have sold to him although there has been such a rush to the factory that some fruit growers could not get home until 11 o'clock.

The first lot of peaches did not bring a very good price in this section, but the later crop did. Apples have brought as high as $6.00 per barrel and Mallock of Milton is getting 45c per hundred for cider apples at the present time. Bartlett pears and several have brought $8.00 per barrel and higher. Grapes bring 17c per ton in New York. So some of the farmers will get through the winter with a comfortable margin.

Some farmers have paid as high as $1.10 and $1.00 per day for help and most women get $2.50 also.

The Brooker trucks of Milton are doing a great freight business here.

The private Evangelist Howard is now on his tour of addresses for a day or two here.

The political candidates are no doubt anxious but they do not have to get on the "ragged edge of anxiety, remorse and despair."

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Henry Doherty and son of Jersey City visited in New Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins who reside near the White Crook Creamery, will move to the tenant house of Harry Gribble soon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Traphagen of Newburgh are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shary.

A social meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Condon on Tuesday evening, October 30. Miss Grace Mallock of Milton, a well known singer on woman suffrage, will be present and also another good speaker. Everyone is cordially invited.

Mrs. Gentry and daughter of Wallborough are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Condon.

Mrs. W. W. Penrose of Newburgh mother of Lieutenant W. B. Penrose of Company E of Newburgh, was a week end guest at Isaac Sutton's.

Mrs. Orla of East Northfield, Mass. announced the engagement of her son, Mr. Orla, to Miss Mary E. Newcomb of Newburgh.

Mr. J. R. Strong, pastor of the Newburgh church, will officiate at the wedding.

A NATIONAL EVENT

Carter's KNIT Underwear

Week October 22nd to 27th

Carter's Knit Underwear is backed by the experience of fifty years. Awarded THE GRAND PRIZE AT THE SAN FRANCISCO EXPOSITION, which is the highest award that can be given. Thus does the most expert judgment put its official approval upon the public preference for CARTER'S KNIT UNDERWEAR.

Carter's For Men, Women, Children

Union Suits

Style, Fit, Finish

Women like Carter's Knit Underwear for themselves because style influences are so faithfully reflected in Carter models, made of a delightfully smooth, soft, elastic fabric carefully knitted in the fine invisible rib now so much favored by critical dressers. Note the clean, dainty appearance of the material free from black specks and coarse rough fibre.

How to Cut a Bottle

A simple method of accurately cutting a bottle is to place it upon some level foundation and fill it with water to the point at which you desire the line of separation to occur. Then take an iron rod of as great a diameter as will pass into the bottle, make it almost white hot, and dip it into the oil. After the lapse of a few moments a sharp crack is heard and the bottle is found to be neatly cut as if with a diamond. If the bottle is very thick and the crackling sound heard in a few moments, a hot cold water thrown on the outside will accomplish it.

Oldest Bird Known

The oldest bird known is called the albatross. That is a Great Horned Owl, which really means "Ancient Bird." It was an extraordinary bird. It had a long tail, not all feathers as a bird's tail is now, but like a lizard's tail long and thick, with bones and flesh, and with feathers growing from it. It had two legs, with which it could walk or perch in the trees, but it had two other limbs like hands, which it probably used to climb about the trees instead of flying from branch to branch as birds now do. It had a long, pointed beak, with a sort of "hook" at the tip, and it was very strong. There is no such bird as this now.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Prof. Clyde Van Steenberg's dancing class will meet in Pythian Hall this evening as usual.

The regular social meeting of Court Santa Maria, No. 164, Daughters of Isabella, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, October 30, when the annual Halloween party will be held at the K. of C. Hall.

Friends of Miss Mae Wood tendered her a surprise linen shower at her home, 32 Wilbur avenue, Wednesday evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Bush, Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Miss Anna Powers, Miss LeRay Orgeretti, Mrs. Anna Every and her daughter, Caroline, Fred Remington, Charles Harbeck, all of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. George Ferguson of New Jersey and Rodney Plough of Mineola, L. I.

Henry Moore and Miss Minnie C. Carney, both of Rosendale, were married at All Saints' Episcopal Church, on Saturday, October 20, by the rector, the Rev. James G. Cameron. The bride was given away by the mother, Mrs. Ira Carney.

Atharhacton Club. The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday with Mrs. King at her home on Fair street. Mrs. King had the paper for the day, her subject being, Thomas Hardy—"Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Two new members have been elected to the club: Mrs. Cleon Owens and Dr. Dederer. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Stelle.

Secor-Dymond. On October 20, 1917, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Omar Goff, of Lexington, N. Y., Edwin D. M. Secor of Ashokan and Miss Phoebe Dymond of Palenstown, N. Y., were married by the Rev. G. A. Skidmore, of the Lexington M. E. Church. They many friends wish them a long and happy married life. They will make their home in Ashokan.

Elmendorf-Tooker. Miss Ruth Tooker, daughter of Mrs. Charles Kastner, of Eddyville, and E. Loughran Elmendorf, son of Silas Elmendorf of Hurley, were married Wednesday evening, October 24, at the parsonage of the Port Haven M. E. Church by the Rev. E. A. Bookhout. There were no attendants and only their immediate families were present. Mr. Elmendorf is one of the men selected to go to Camp Dix in the next increment from this county. Mrs. Elmendorf will reside with her mother in Eddyville until the war is over.

Benefit Social a Success. The dime social held at the home of Mrs. Ezra Spencer, 406 Washington avenue for the benefit of Lodge No. 124, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, was a success. The program was as follows: Piano solo by Maude Edwards. Reading, "When Father Rode the Goat," by Mrs. W. J. Rosa. Song, "Home Sweet Home," by Irving Hull. Drill, Three Nurses, by Virginia Newman, Anna Hinkley, Gladys Hull. Piano solo, Alida Hinkley. Reading, "Her Opportunity," by Mrs. E. Spencer. A few remarks by Mrs. E. Grant. The evening was joyfully spent and every one having a good time, leaving at an early hour for home.

Shults-Shults. A pretty wedding took place at the parsonage of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church of Kingston on Tuesday evening, October 23, at half past seven o'clock, when Miss Beatrice R. Shults, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Shults, of Bearsville, N. Y., became the wife of James A. Shults of Wittenberg. The marriage was performed by Rev. George Cranston, the double ring ceremony being used. The bride looked pretty in gown and veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Genevieve D. Shults, a cousin of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Benjamin Shults, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride and groom left the city Wednesday morning for a short wedding tour. Their many friends wish them a long and prosperous future.

Lowell Club Program. The Lowell Club has prepared an unusually full program for this year's work as will be seen by the following. Wagon Wrecked By Engine.

Late Wednesday evening an express wagon owned by Archie Witter, the well-known truckman, was loaded with the trunks and baggage of the Sylvester Schaeffer Company, who closed an engagement at the Orpheum theater. The baggage was to be loaded into a freight car standing on the siding on Greenhill avenue in front of the Millen, Aikenhead shirt factory. As the wagon was on the track an engine and caboose of the Wallkill Valley Railroad crashed into the wagon before it could get off, wrecking the wagon and smashing seven trunks and a suit case. The horse was uninjured, and the driver escaped without injury. Who was at fault in the accident could not be learned.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, Oct. 25.—Don't forget the entertainment on next Wednesday evening, Halloween night, given by the young people. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken. There will be refreshments for sale. It will take place in the Sunday school room of the church. Everybody is invited to come and help a good cause. Miss Mildred DuBois, who has a position in Kingston, spent the week end with her parents here.

Silas Castor and family of Birminghams spent Sunday with his wife's mother, Mrs. Hess, and sister, Alice Hess.

Mrs. Frank Sheeley of Creek Locks called on Mrs. Sarah Livingston on Tuesday.

Rufus LeFevre and family moved from their summer cottage last Thursday week, back to Kingston for the winter.

Mrs. Barnett, who underwent an operation last Wednesday week, is doing nicely. Dr. Rymph was in attendance.

Mrs. Ira D. Rush and niece, Clio Mear, and cousin, Miss Deane Smith, visited Kingston on Saturday.

Miss Christina E. Hess of Kingston spent Sunday at her home here.

Not Hard Trick to Teach.

It appears rather wonderful to see a dog shut the door at a word of command, but it is quite a simple trick. It works best with a rather large dog. Go to a door that swings easily and set it about six inches open. Then balance a biscuit on the handle and draw the dog's attention to it, saying, "Shut the door." He will naturally jump against the door to get the biscuit, and his weight will shut it. Then praise him for it. By doing this several times a day he will gradually get to associate the action with the words "Shut the door," and will do the trick when told, even though there is no biscuit in evidence.

Good Humanity.

One of the largest American industrial concerns has a regularly organized educational department which publishes all manner of practical books which tend to raise the physical, social and financial standards of the people throughout the country. You may even secure a book from them telling how to make flytraps. What have flytraps to do with their product—plows and harrows? Nothing at all, except that their venom-covered feet may bring death to those who buy plows and harrows. Good advertising? No! Just good humanity.—Adapted From the Etude.

Chinese Bean Eaters.

The chief reason why people can live so cheaply in China and yet produce for that nation a tremendous man power, is that they eat beans instead of meat; but nothing like the navy bean, which by many people who do not get much exercise is considered a rather heavy food. Furthermore, pork and beans as fed to the men in the United States army and navy becomes monotonous after a while, even though the addition of the carbon contained in the shape of pork fat makes such a meal possess every element necessary to sustain life.—Exchange.

Turkish Towels.

Turkey exports more towels than any other country, which is largely because the average Turk has no use for a towel himself. When the first Turk made a towel he couldn't imagine what to do with it, so he sold it to a tourist and in this way the Turkish towel industry arose. A Turk has no patience with a towel. As soon as he makes one he wants to have it out of his sight. He doesn't mind Turkish rugs, and he will even smoke a Turkish cigarette, but a Turkish towel gets him going. The leading feature of a Turkish towel is that you can dry yourself on both sides, which makes it of special value. Operating a Turkish towel is quite a knack and most people develop their own style of play. A man can get more vigorous exercise after a morning bath in drying his back with a Turkish towel than in bustling trunks. The only objection to Turkish towels as an exercise is that it doesn't get you out in the open air.—Illinois State Register.

Mere Money Getting.

As I approach the end, I am more than a little puzzled to account for the instances I have seen of business success—money getting. It comes from a rather low instinct. Certainly, so far as my observation goes, it is rarely met with in connection with the finer or more investing traits of character. I have known, and known tolerably well, a good many "successful men"—"big" financially—men famous during the last half century, and a less interesting crowd I do not care to encounter. Not one that I have ever known would I care to meet again, either in this world or the next; nor is one of them associated in my mind with the idea of humor, thought or refinement. A set of mere money getters and traders, they were essentially unattractive and uninteresting.—Charles Francis Adams.

System Important Habit.

One of the most important habits to form is that of system. It is a habit natural to some women, but to most it is an acquired one. It is generally a cultivated virtue, achieved through doctored persistence and in spite of many a failing from grace. Some of the most systematic persons can recall days when an utter lack of system dominated their lives. The discomfort they suffered then keeps them on guard lest they slip back into their old way of doing. It is best to begin to be systematic when one is young; but there is no bigger mistake than to consider unsystematic ways irremediable after youth has passed. Anyone can cure the fault of want of system and save oneself needless inconveniences and increase one's usefulness to other people.—Exchange.

The Scale.

In a confidential talk to a group of medical students, an eminent physician took up the extremely important matter of the maximum fee. "The best rewards," he declared, according to the Post Magazine, "come of course to the established specialist. For instance, I charge $25 for a call at the residence, $10 for an office consultation, and $5 for a telephone consultation." There was an appreciative and perhaps an envious silence, and then a voice from the back of the amphitheater spoke: "Doctor," it asked, "how much do you charge a fellow for passing you on the street?"—Youth's Companion.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Standard Oxygen Company of New York, for the election of five directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting, will be held at the office of the company, 100 West 42nd street, at Esopus, New York, on Wednesday, the 1st day of November, 1917, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon. WHAT THE LUTHERAN CHURCH STANDS FOR (Contributed)

It stands first of all for the Bible, the whole Bible, and nothing but the Bible. Says Thomas Carlyle: "The period of the Reformation was a judgment day for Europe, when all the nations were presented with an open Bible." Since the time Martin Luther discovered that dust-covered (the) copy of a complete Bible, chained to the wall of the library of the University of Erfurt and learned its blessed truths and brought it forth and gave it back to Christendom ever since that time the Lutheran Church has upheld the Bible as the infallible and sole and sufficient rule of faith and life; and ever since that time the Lutheran churches defended the Bible against all attacks from within and without Christendom.

The Lutheran church believes that the sacred writings of the church, both of the Old and New Testaments, are not only certain, but are the inspired Word of God; that God not only suggested to the writers the thoughts, or subjects, on which he desired them to express their personal sentiment, but also prompted their very utterances, the holy men of God thinking and speaking as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

For thus writes St. Peter concerning the Old Testament Scriptures, which he terms "the sure word of prophecy": "The prophecy came out in old time by the will of men, but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost" (1 Cor. 11:13). The Lutheran church believes and teaches that the six-six books of the Bible are the final revelation of God to a sinful world. (Heb. 1:1-2). "God, who at sundry times, and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His son, whom He hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also He made the worlds"; that they are true and infallible in every part; that they are the only form by which Christian faith and Christian life must be determined.

Sufficiency of the Bible. The Lutheran church, therefore, has no room for either criticism or rationalism which are attempting to destroy this old Bible page by page.

"THE MILLION DOLLAR SHOE FOLKS"

SALE CONTINUES ALL THIS WEEK

REMEMBER THIS FACT, TOO, GOOD FOLKS—THE SHOE VALUES HERE ARE JUST AS GREAT and would have us inquire each morning as we read the latest news, "Where is the Bible today? How much have Professor This and Doctor That after their latest researches still left us of the dear old Book?"

The Lutheran church also believes in the sufficiency of the Bible as a rule of Christian faith and life. Paul, writing to Timothy, declares of the Holy Scriptures, which Timothy has learned from a child, that they "are able to make thee wise unto salvation." (II Tim. 3:15-16). How much more is this true of the Holy Scriptures, since the New Testament has been added to the old?

Some there be who indeed believe in the Bible and speak in glowing terms of its value, but they do not believe the Holy Scriptures to be a sufficient source of religious truth and knowledge. And so they add to the Bible, as of equal authority of it, traditions or the declarations and decrees of the church or of some dignitary in the church. Others elevate to the side of the Bible as an additional source of religious truth their own mind or reason. But as Paul in his day, so the Lutheran Church today, believes the Holy Scriptures alone are "able to make us wise unto salvation." And with Peter we confess, "We have also a more sure word of prophecy; where unto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place until the day dawn and the day star arise in your hearts." Very clearly Peter represents the Bible as the light—the only light (I Peter 1:19) and all the rest as a dark place.

Therefore in all matters of religion, of faith and life, the Bible is our sole and highest court of appeal. Its declarations are final and binding. Its promises of peace and pardon and salvation are the unmovable foundation of a sure faith and a certain hope. Its message is a safeguard and compass on the way through this life to the eternal home.

Do we use our reason? Most certainly we do. But not in the role of censor of the Holy Scriptures, but rather to understand the revelations of our God. And we find that we have no use for all the wisdom and enlightenment God has given us and we can possibly acquire by labor and toil.

Authority in Religion.

We thus stand for authority in religion. Not human authority—for nothing human can be perfect and entirely dependable—but divine authority, the Bible, the only authority ever recognized by the Apostles and by the true Church of Christ as a result of all this you will not find Lutheran pulpits giving utterances to contradictory religious views, compelling the congregation when listening "Wonder what this man's views are?" True Lutheran pulpits everywhere are proclaiming one and the same thing—the Bible. The Lutheran Church also believes in the right of the Christian people to interpret the Scriptures. That does not mean the right of Christian people to put into the Bible their own thoughts and notions. That is not interpreting the Bible. It means that every Christian has the right to go direct to the Bible without interference on the part of some higher authority, and to let the Bible speak to him. It was to the people that Christ addressed the injunction, "Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life; and they are they which testify of me." (John 5:39). It was to the Christian people, the church members, that the most of the Gospels and Epistles were sent and sent to be read and pondered over and interpreted. It was of the church members at Berea that Luke said, when Paul and Silas came to them, and preached the Gospel, "They searched the Scriptures daily whether these things were so." (Acts 17:10-11).

To give unto the church or any human authority the right to interpret the Bible for the individual and to make this interpretation binding upon the individual's conscience means but to fetter the Christian conscience. It means a blind faith, which must accept a religion that some one else makes for him. It means a faith like that of the Bohemian collier, who, when asked "What do you believe?" answered, "I believe what the church believes." "What does your church believe?" "The church believes what I believe." "Well, what do you and the church believe?" "We both believe the same thing."

Nowhere in the Bible does Christ remand of His "free" children to obey the church or any ecclesiastical authority as though their decrees were binding upon our conscience. Says our Lord Himself, "One is your master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren." (Matt. 23:9). And it is well that it is so. For we know that even churches and councils and synods may err as they have erred in the past and as Peter erred constraining a Paul to say of him, "I understood him to the face." (Gal. 2:11). We need only turn to the pages of history during the dark centuries preceding the Reformation and as the reader ponders over those pages of history he will turn away from them with the deepened conviction, "The Bible, the dear old Bible, is the only safe guide and authority in Christendom; and every Christian must stand up for his right to appeal direct to it."

And so the Lutheran Church uncompromisingly stands for the simple, plain, sweet truth of the Bible and the right to go to it for light, for strength, for comfort, for guidance. While the Bible is being assailed on the one side by higher criticism and rationalism, and on the other side by human authority which sets itself above or makes itself equal to the Scriptures, the Lutheran Church has been firm in its defence of the authority as well as the sufficiency of the Scriptures. Her pastors know and proclaim nothing but what God has spoken through the inspired writers. Her members decline to accept what cannot be substantiated from the Book. Laymen and clergy unite their effort to raise up an intelligent membership which knows what it believes and why it believes it.

This principle, no doubt, accounts in part for the surprising growth of the Lutheran denomination in this country, as well as for the fact that the Lutheran Church has among its membership a greater percentage of men than any other denomination, namely 46.1 per cent. From the fact that she is a Bible Church, the Lutheran Church has advanced to the logical consequence of becoming an educating church.

Why the Railroad Problem Is YOUR Problem!

The railroads of the United States transport a billion tons of freight annually—50 tons to a family. This freight represents the business activities of the nation.

It is therefore of the utmost importance to every family in the land that railroad facilities be ample to meet the burden of increasing commercial and military necessities.

Your prosperity is at stake.

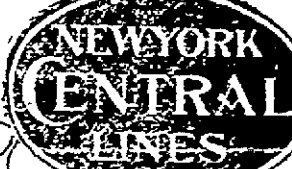

The New York Central Lines

"America's Greatest Railway System"

In common with other railroads, must buy new cars and locomotives, build new tracks and terminals and in other ways expand their facilities in order to do their part in meeting the growing service demands.

You, the people, and the custodians of your savings—the banks, insurance companies, trust companies, etc.—will invest, and make possible the necessary expansions, only as rates and regulations permit the railroads to pay a return that will compare favorably with other investments available to you.

Mocha Sheepskins.

The world's supply of Mocha sheepskin is obtained by about a dozen buyers, who have their native collectors in caravans collect the skins at various centers, of which Mocha, Berbera, Zeylath, and Hodeidah are the main points, from which they are sent to Aden, a British coaling station, which, on account of its excellent location, is the shipping point for skins sent to London, the continent of Europe, and the United States.

by Miss Millan Lamert. After the Scripture reading and business hour the ladies chatted and did quite some sewing, after which they were invited into the spacious dining room, where the table was spread with dainty refreshments.

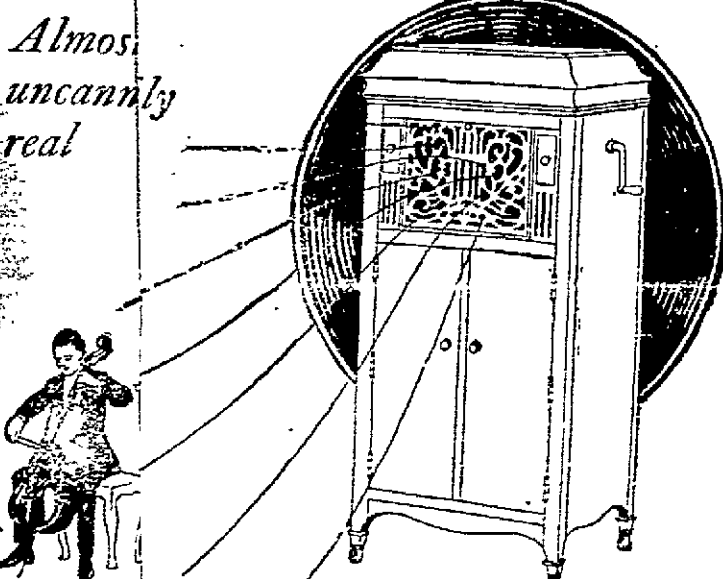

Samuel Forbes of Camp Dix was home on a furlough Sunday. Samuel's Valley has three sons serving in their country. Otto Jacobson, Samuel Forbes and James Cox.

On Friday last, Mrs. L. C. Cox went to visit her son, James William Cox, who has enlisted in the 32nd Cavalry, E. Troop, before he left for Oglethorpe, Georgia. After receiving the word that he might be changed any minute, she made haste and traveled all night and on reaching Ft. Slover found he had been gone 24 hours, much to her disappointment. She had to return without seeing him.

Mrs. Arlene Caldwell and Miss son returned to their home Friday, after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. M. Morrow, who is ill.

Miss Florence Feick attended the funeral of her uncle, David Stratton, in Ellenville, Thursday.

Fall Style Week IN ENGRAVING AND Stationery

We Urge Early Holiday Buying IN Personal Greeting Cards, Visiting Cards, Plate Printing, Embossing

It may seem a bit early for these orders but practically all of the work must be done after the order is received and every indication points to a big season for engraved cards and stationery of all kinds. When the utmost capacity is reached there must be a stoppage of order-taking so that all work may be completed before Christmas. Prompt, skillful help is required and in the rush weeks the expansion is merely one of increased labor on the part of the regular workers; and too, the engraving business has supplied its quota of men to the army and navy and to the Government Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the Liberty Bonds, Currency, Postage Stamps and other papers of value are executed by the steel engraving process. There is also an advantage in getting more satisfactory workmanship and better transportation facilities early in the season.

This week we are having special display of advance samples of Christmas and New Year's Cards and fancy gift stationery, and it will be worth your while to stop and look at our elaborate window display and then come in and place your order. We shall be most happy to set aside whatever you may select from our stock before it is depleted and delivered the same at a later date. DO IT NOW.

THE BIGGEST GUN.

STERN SECTION OF CAPTURED SUBMARINE U.C.5 BEING CARRIED ON TRUCK THROUGH NEW YORK STREETS.

It is now the imperative duty of every one to enlist in the great army that is putting its dollars into active service for the defense of our government.

The supreme patriotic sacrifice falls to the lot of our young men who will go to the fighting front. Ours is to back them up and shorten the struggle by lending part of our savings to the government.

EDWARD PRONER
President of the Bankers' Trust Company

THE MAN WHO HELPS MOST U-BOAT IN A SHEEP PASTURE

By G. C. SELDEN.

of the Magazine of Wall Street.

The man who helps his country most by having one or more Liberty bonds is the man who has no money to buy them with. For in order to pay for his bonds that man must save out of his current income. He applies his present and future energies direct to the winning of the war through the medium of Liberty bonds.

The wealthy man who does not accumulate surplus to buy bonds is helping, because his money helps to put the energies of others in motion, but the man who saves to buy his bonds is not only doing that but is applying his own energies also.

If we forget money for a moment, we see at once that the war will be won by the side that fights and works harder than the other fellows. If you merely invest your past savings in the loan you are in effect hiring some other man to work or fight for your country. And his work can be applied but once. If he goes to the front he can no longer make shoes or raise wheat. But if you invest your present and future savings you are putting your own work into the war too.

Here is something you can do. Everybody can do it. Cut down your unnecessary expenses and put the savings into the loan. Or work a little harder and put your additional earnings into the loan.

The highest interest ever paid by any institution guaranteed by the United States government.

Having Money.

It's a fine thing when you need money to have money for you to get to get it. It is still finer when your friends and family and come to you to have money to give to them.

The Unreliable Man.

"Don't man for money to be loaned to him," said Uncle Eben. "Some men don't put no credit 'cep' bet betin' unreliable."

Hardening Wood.

Wood acquires a remarkable hardness and toughness when it is placed in tanks and covered with quicklime, which is gradually soaked with water.

THEY BOUGHT AND FOUGHT

The history books tell more about Washington's army at Valley Forge than about how the money was raised in 1776 but behind Washington's army the sturdy group of patriots in the thirteen original states dug deep into their pocketbooks to finance the fight for liberty.

To the original group of states the problem of finances was difficult. They had not yet developed a strong federal government and could not levy federal taxes nor issue federal bonds like the Liberty bonds of today. Yet up to November, 1776, they raised a total of $451,077,556 through issuing bills of credit and on notes put out by the individual states.

The first bonds authorized by congress were 4 per cent bonds, issued in October, 1776. By 1780 subscriptions to various issues of bonds totaled $63,280,000. Holland and France loaned the thirteen states about $12,000,000 during the war.

Today the credit of the United States is unquestioned and Liberty bonds are much better security than the notes and bonds issued by the newly formed government of 1776. The need for money is as great, but any one who buys a Liberty bond today is sure that his money is safe while it fights again for Liberty. The colonists had no such attraction when they invested their money.

Here are a few of the things your money loaned to the government on Liberty Bonds will do our fighting forces:

- A $50 Liberty Bond will supply four months' sustenance in the field for one of our soldiers.
- A $100 Liberty Bond will supply 200 pounds of smokeless powder for our big guns.
- A $200 Liberty Bond will uniform and equip four of our blue-jackets.
- A $500 Liberty Bond will supply 100 of our soldiers with gas masks in which to face one of the deadliest menaces of the trenches.
- A $1,000 Liberty Bond will buy gasoline enough to drive one of our submarines 2,000 miles in our campaign against the under-sea raiders of the Kaiser.
- A $2,000 Liberty Bond will supply 500 thirteen pound shells to sink German submarines.
- Every Liberty Bond you buy helps actively to win the war.

Start a savings account with a bond today for your children's education. They will thank you later because you bought a Liberty bond in 1917.

VAN WAGENENCHOICE OF NEW PALTZ

Eugene Van Wagenen, Republican nominee for supervisor of the town of New Paltz, has been active in town and village affairs for a number of years and few men in any town are better acquainted with township business.

EUGENE VAN WAGENEN.

He is a son of Nathan Van Wagenen and succeeded his father in the business of general merchandise, which he has conducted for the past fifteen years. For nearly eight years he has held the office of town clerk, a position which has enabled him to come in close contact with all town business, and for the past nine years he has held the office of treasurer of the village of New Paltz. The up-right character of Mr. Van Wagenen during his long residence in New Paltz, his strict integrity, his knowledge of town and county affairs as acquired by actual experience, and the full confidence he has enjoyed since the position of supervisor after the death of Supervisor Joseph H. Vandervly last summer.

For a number of years Mr. Van Wagenen has been an active member of the fire department and he is equally well known in other fields of activity in both town and village.

CAPTAIN BISHOP FOR SUPERVISOR

Well Known Business Man of Seventh Ward Selected by Republican Party as Its Candidate for Important Office of Supervisor.

In selecting Captain Charles E. Bishop as the candidate for supervisor of the Seventh ward the Republicans of that ward made a wise choice, as men of his type are the kind needed in the county legislature. Captain Bishop is one of the best known residents in the lower section of the city, and for over twenty years he has been a resident of the Seventh ward where he is held in high respect. He has represented his ward in the board of aldermen and indications point to the fact that he will be selected to represent the ward in the board of supervisors.

Captain Bishop for many years was in the boat business and now carries on an extensive trucking business downtown. He is a man of sound judgment and has always had the best interest of the city at heart working for the civic betterment of the city. The Seventh ward needs a man in the board of supervisors who will represent the best interests of that ward and in electing Captain Bishop to office the ward will have a man to represent them who will be a credit to the ward.

The country at this time needs men of brains and action, and it should not be forgotten that the board of supervisors is the most important board in the county and only men typical of the best manhood in the city should be elected to fill that important office. A man of the business ability and integrity of Captain Bishop entitles him to election. That the voters of the Seventh ward want to be represented by such a man in the county legislature will be clearly shown election day.

Hallowe'en Social at Edenville.
Wednesday evening, October 31, there will be a Hallowe'en social at the home of Mrs. Mooney of Cornell. The admission of twenty-five cents will entitle one to refreshments consisting of clam chowder, cake and coffee. Dancing included. A special feature of the evening will be the presence of Madame Seacraft, who is very proficient in the art of palmistry. Proceeds for the benefit of the Red Cross.

M. C. A. BOYS ON HALLOWE'EN

The Boys' Division of the Y M C A. will hold a Hallowe'en Masquerade Tuesday night October 26th. This social event is open to all members of Student A, B, C and Employed Boys and promises to be a good time for the boys. Each boy is to be masked and in costume. A prize will be given to the boy having the best make-up and one to the boy having the funniest make-up. The following committee have charge of the affair: Milford, George Phillips, Merwin Garrison, Edward Horton, George Medler, James Winters, Fehner Chandler, Arthur Thompson, Tom Rowland. The rooms will be decorated for the occasion and Hallowe'en stunts will be played. A grand parade will be held on the Gym floor after which some games will be played there. Ghosts and other spirits will be present.

The Fall opening of the Boys Bible classes began Tuesday night of this week. Thirty-five boys sat down to supper at 5:45 after which H. A. Miner principal of No. 6 school spoke on "The Boy and the Bible." Mr. Bulley, Physical Director of the High School also spoke. Mr. Bulley will have charge of one of the classes in Bible study which will meet every Tuesday evening. The studies will be as follows: "What Manner of Man is This?" and "Men who Lived." These classes are open to members of Student B & C groups. Several interesting events are in store for those classes.

Saturday night of this week Student A, B, & Employed Boys will hold the second Saturday night pop. A surprise in the line of fun is being planned. Refreshments will be served.

Boys' Secretary Hines will attend a supper and conference at Albany tonight with reference to War Fund Campaign in which one hundred thousand boys throughout the country are to earn and contribute the ten dollars each for our soldiers.

Mr. Hines has been given District Director by the State Committee.

HASBROUCK NAMED FOR SUPERVISOR

Rosendale's Nominee is Popular Station Agent of Wallkill Valley Railroad at Rosendale Village—Active in Town Affairs.

James S. Hasbrouck, nominee for supervisor of the town of Rosendale on the Republican ticket, has resided in that town the greater part of the thirty-six years of his life. It has been said that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country.

JAMES S. HASBROUCK.

but that is not the case with Mr. Hasbrouck, and the respect and esteem in which he is held by his fellow citizens prove it.

For many years Mr. Hasbrouck has held a responsible position in connection with the New York Central Railroad Company and at present is station agent of the Wallkill Valley Railroad at Rosendale. He has served the town as an active fireman and has been president of the Rosendale fire department for some years. Now, by almost unanimous choice, he has been selected as candidate for the highest office within the gift of the township. That he will be elected is a foregone conclusion and it is equally certain that he will serve his constituents faithfully and well.

Donation at Cottekill.

Cottekill, Oct. 25.—On Thursday evening, November 1, a donation party will be held in the Cottekill Reformed Chapel. A hot chicken supper will be served from 6 o'clock p. m. until all are served. The chicken suppers served in this church are so well known that it is not necessary to say anything more than, the high quality of those suppers as served in the past years, will not be lowered this year. Chicken, hot biscuits, mashed potatoes and all the other "fixins" that go to make a first class supper will be served, including pumpkin pie. A cordial invitation is extended to all. This donation party with the chicken supper is to take the place of both our annual chicken supper and the donation party, it having been decided that on account of the very high cost of living we would combine the two affairs into one. This statement is made for the benefit of the public, many of whom have been coming to our chicken suppers for several years past, and we wish to assure them that they will not be disappointed in this combined supper.

If stormy, the next fair evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seaman were in Poughkeepsie last week on business.

Mr. D. Kurtz was a Poughkeepsie visitor last Friday.

A. W. Lent of Milton avenue has returned home after a few days spent in Washington, D. C., and Virginia.

He attended the J. O. U. A. M. convention.

New York City Dedrick was called to his home on Friday last Saturday. Her mother, Mrs. Dedrick, and the Hovey and Leos families extend their heartfelt sympathy to them in their great bereavement.

FIVE SOLDIERS ARRESTED HERE

Wednesday evening Officers Connelly and Welch arrested five soldiers from the Itica company stationed at Olive, and they were later turned over to the military authorities. Early Tuesday morning Officer Rickerson of Saugerties telephoned Sergeant Hanley, of the local police department, asking if any soldiers were missing or wanted here. He said that five soldiers in a Ford car were having a big time in Saugerties. While Rickerson was telephoning, they left, going north. Sergeant Hanley advised that two men had borrowed the Ford car of Isaac Abraham of this city and had not returned it. Wednesday evening the five men were found at the West Shore station here and picked up. They stated they had left the automobile in an Athens garage. The soldiers were Sergeant Horace P. Brayman, Corporal Howard O. Seufert and Privates Alfred N. Knight, William O. Hughes and Lawrence S. Snyder.

HIGHLAND.
Highland, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Abraham Brinkerhoff and daughter, Belle, were shoppers in Poughkeepsie last week.

Mrs. James S. Mack of "Hillair," has a number of guests yet. She has some who will remain till after New Year's.

Mrs. J. P. Whitley has returned from New York city, where she spent a few days the past week.

Mrs. Hammond has returned from a visit with relatives in Rosendale.

There will be several small parties next week—Hallowe'en affairs. The young people just enjoy the sport.

The Queen Esther Society enjoyed a masquerade at the home of Mrs. George Dean Tuesday evening. They had some gay time.

Get up your clam chowder appetite and be sure and have it with you on election day, for the ladies of the Holy Trinity Guild are just going to show you what good chowder they make, and they will serve anyone from 4 until 8 p. m. All the men who will be working hard for election will need something to warm them up beside politics for they may have an exciting time to run their candidates in, so in all your tumult, get to the Smith hall, over the garage, and get something good and substantial to fill the waste places, and you will feel that you have done a good deed after electing to help the treasury of the Guild of the Episcopal Church. Remember the date.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leo, Mrs. Henry Hovey and Mrs. J. C. Dedrick motored up from New York city Wednesday.

Cottage prayer meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Morgan, on the north road. It was well attended and a most interesting meeting was held and it certainly was very profitable to everyone present.

Sunday school convention will be held next week Tuesday and Wednesday in Kingston. There will be in attendance several of the Methodist Sunday school officers from this place. They are looking forward to a very instructive and impressive session.

This Friday evening Rev. G. A. MacDonald of Grace Church, Newburgh, will give an interesting talk in the M. E. Church of this place. Let everyone come out and hear him. He is a very fine talker and those who go out that evening will not be disappointed.

The daughters of America will give a masquerade in the Pythian Hall on Friday evening, November 2. Each member has the privilege of inviting four guests. The people who make up are asked to pay 10 cents; those who do not mask, 25 cents. Your reporter has accepted an invitation and he expects to have a fine time. There will be refreshments, music and we were told, dancing by those who wish to indulge. Let the members all be present, guests also, and enjoy the evening's sport.

The Eastern Star Order is going to have a poverty party and box lunch October 29. We hear the Stars are all expected, also Master Masons. Sorry to say, reporter is not a member of the lodge, so cannot expect to set in that party.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades and daughter, Alma, motored to Kingston last Sunday. They report a fine trip.

Paul N. Tappan, pastor of the M. E. Church in this place, spent the week in town last Saturday. He is looking fine and says he has a fine time. Meets many people from all over the Empire State, for there are always a great many guests at "Holy Cross" and many notable and distinguished men are among them.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Club will give a Hallowe'en supper and sale on Wednesday evening, October 31. We were informed this is to be a hot roast beef supper from 5:30 to 8 p. m., and the ladies also will have on sale aprons. They know the housekeepers always can use plenty of aprons so just reserve that evening and present yourselves at the church and get a first class dinner and help on the finances of the church.

Mrs. J. C. Coddington, wife of the Rev. J. C. Coddington, pastor of the M. E. Church in this place, spent the week in Hackettstown, New Jersey, where their daughter Margaret, is attending college, and she had a very delightful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seaman were in Poughkeepsie last week on business.

Mr. D. Kurtz was a Poughkeepsie visitor last Friday.

A. W. Lent of Milton avenue has returned home after a few days spent in Washington, D. C., and Virginia.

Vienna Not on Danube.
Vienna is popularly misunderstood to be on "the beautiful blue Danube" river, but that mighty stream in its long course to the Black sea really encircles the city some miles from its center. A canal winds through the heart of the city and connects with the Danube below the Prater. Vienna's great playground.

WAS LOTS OF FUN

Verdict of Youngster Who Took Remarkable Ride.

Curled Up Inside Automobile Tire Girl Rolled Down Steep Hill and Escaped Uninjured.

Alvan is only five and his sister Mildred is seven. They live on the slope of a great hill in Los Angeles, up which cars are drawn by a cable. The automobile road that winds to the summit describes the sweeping curves of the letter S. An electric car line runs past the foot of the hill, and the road that comes down from the summit crosses it to join Pasadena avenue.

One day the children were playing along the road, about three loops up from the bottom, where the road runs straight for half a city block. Alvan had a wrench that his father had borrowed, and was supposed to be carrying it back to its owner. They had two more loops to make, and then some stairs to climb to find the home of the wrench. It had taken an hour to come down three loops in their way of traveling, says the Youth's Companion.

At last conscience awakened in Mildred. She snatched the wrench and, calling to Alvan to follow, began to run. She rounded the first half of the next loop, and stopped. Before her lay a tire, lost off some hurrying automobile.

"Oh-ee!" she said. "Let's have some fun, Alvan. Set it up and let me get into it."

Obedient to the mandate of superior age, the boy struggled with the heavy tire. His sister dropped the wrench and gave a helping hand. When the tire was standing properly erect, she turned it till it headed down the grade and began to insinuate a foot into its interior. Soon she stood, with one foot ahead of the other, inside the shell of rubber and canvas, her body bent and the top of her head against the casing. Pulling the flanges outward with both hands, she jammed her head hard against the opening and the flanges gripped it. Then, with both hands clinging to the inner flanges, she gave the word to loyal little Alvan to "Let it roll!"

With as hard a push as his sturdy frame could give, the boy sent the rubber hoop trundling down the steep grade. All of the turns on the grade are banked. As the tire rolled down to the first turn, it shot up on the banked part, wavered a little, and turned. At the outer curve it nearly went over, but swung just in time. So it went careering round the last two loops and shot out on a straight line at the bottom, toward the car track.

The motorman of car No. 1231, watching the track ahead, saw the tire whizzing down from his right. He laughed as he glimpsed its upper rim above the bank of flowers. Then the tire shot out past the flowers, and he saw a curred, distorted body and a white face that whirled in rapid revolutions, with yellow hair streaming and skirts fluttering.

The passengers, who were not looking ahead, wondered why the man threw on the air brake so abruptly that they bent double over backs of seats. They thought they would report him.

The conductor and motorman jumped from the car and ran back. There, just across the track, lay the tire and a very dizzy little girl. Then women swarmed from the car, to pet and soothe. A careful examination revealed only one bruise—a skinned elbow; and when the dizziness had passed, Mildred sat up with a grin. "It was lots of fun," she said. "I want to do it again."

That was not what her father said when he carried the tire up the hill and returned it to his neighbor, or what he thought when he found that the wrench was permanently lost.

Surprise for the Sergeant.

This story was told in a private letter written by a boy in one of the American contingents now in France. The section had a French cook, very fat, very good-natured and very eager to learn the United States language, of which he was wholly ignorant. The few boys who could speak a word or two of French undertook his education.

He was particularly desirous of pleasing the sergeant and thought it would be very fine if he could surprise that impressive person by saying bon jour to him in his own language.

The boys spent a full half day teaching the cook the proper accent and inflection for what he supposed was: "Good morning, sergeant."

The next morning the dignified sergeant was somewhat horrified when the hitherto polite cook sprang to attention, saluted gravely and shouted: "Go to h—, sergeant."

Honest Landlady.

Boarder (on leaving)—Madam, you are one of the most honest persons I have ever met.

Landlady—I'm glad to hear you say that, sir.

Boarder—Yes; your honesty is conspicuous on the very front of your establishment. Your sign says, "Boarders Taken In!"

Proud of It.

"He has an old violin. I was trying to make him feel good, so I told him it might be a Stradivarius."

"What then?"

"He didn't take to the idea at all."

"You don't say?"

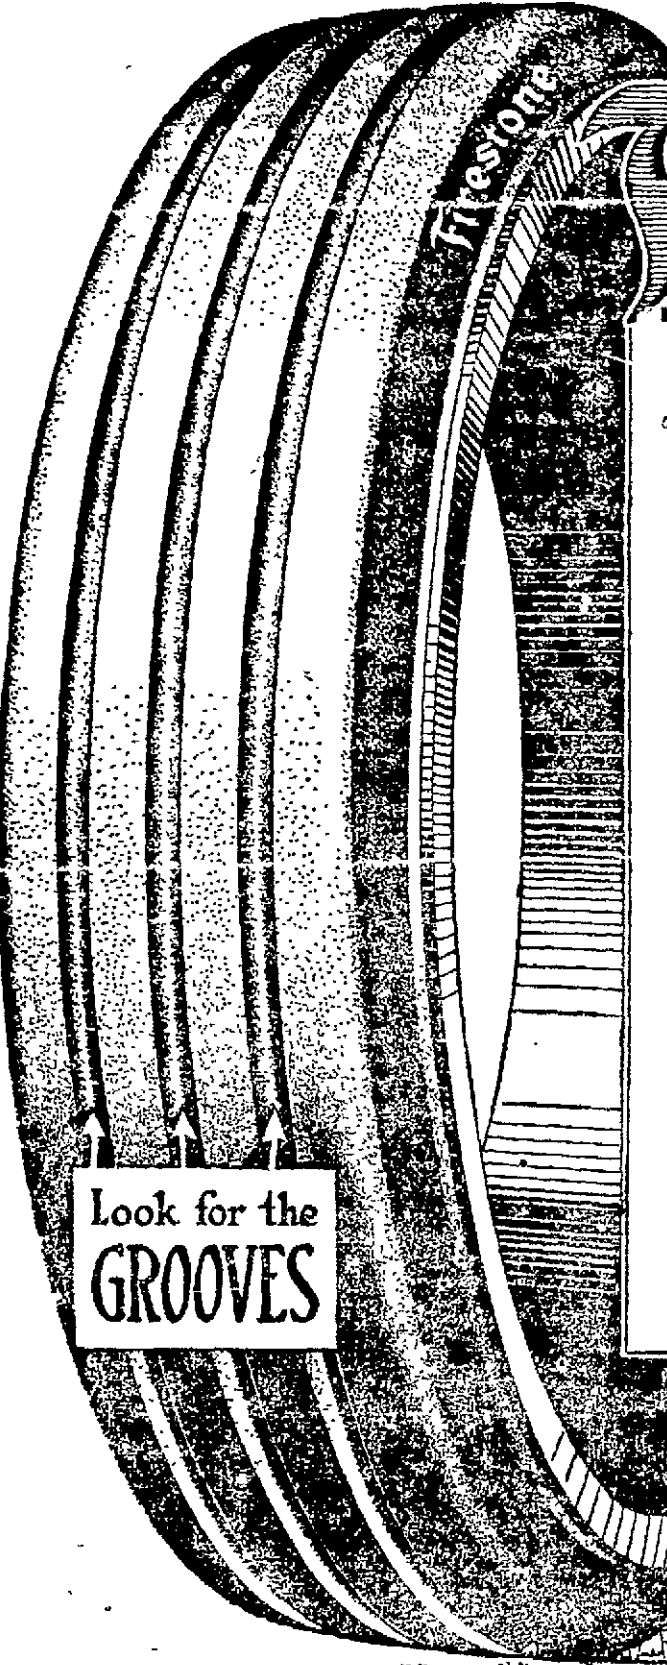

"Said he made that violin himself."

Save the Batter.

Batter left over from hot cakes can be disposed of in two ways—it may go into the making of gingerbread, or you can stir it into the mush when it is boiling.

Giant Truck Tires

Emphasize Firestone Leadership

FIRESTONE built the first successful truck tire and has led in improvements ever since. This Firestone Giant Truck Tire is the latest practical contribution to the world's vital needs of tonnage and transportation.

It gives amazing mileage and adequate protection to the truck. This great bulk of fine rubber in a single tread supercedes the two treads mounted together. It absorbs strains and shocks, regardless of irregularities in the road. There is skid prevention in the grooved tread.

It Holds the Road in Mud, Snow and Ice

Its remarkable traction and resiliency saves fuel. These and other advantages result in Most Miles per Dollar and make it—

The Dominant Truck Tire of the Day

Made in 7, 8, 10, 12 and 14 inch widths.

That motorists find extra values in Firestone Tires is proved by the fact that our sales increased 72 per cent this year up to September 1st. Our total business this year will exceed $60,000,000.

Black Paper.

It is not always easy to get hold of a good sample of black paper for making masks—a paper, that is, which is absolutely opaque and free from pinholes. The black paper that is used on roll film cartridges is particularly suitable for the purpose. If the photographer is a plate and not a film user, it is still likely that he will know someone who does use films—or that his dealer develops them—and either should be willing to give him a handful of what otherwise would be regarded as rubbish. When obtained it should be cut to size and put away flat, under pressure until it is wanted for use.

Was Very Weak.

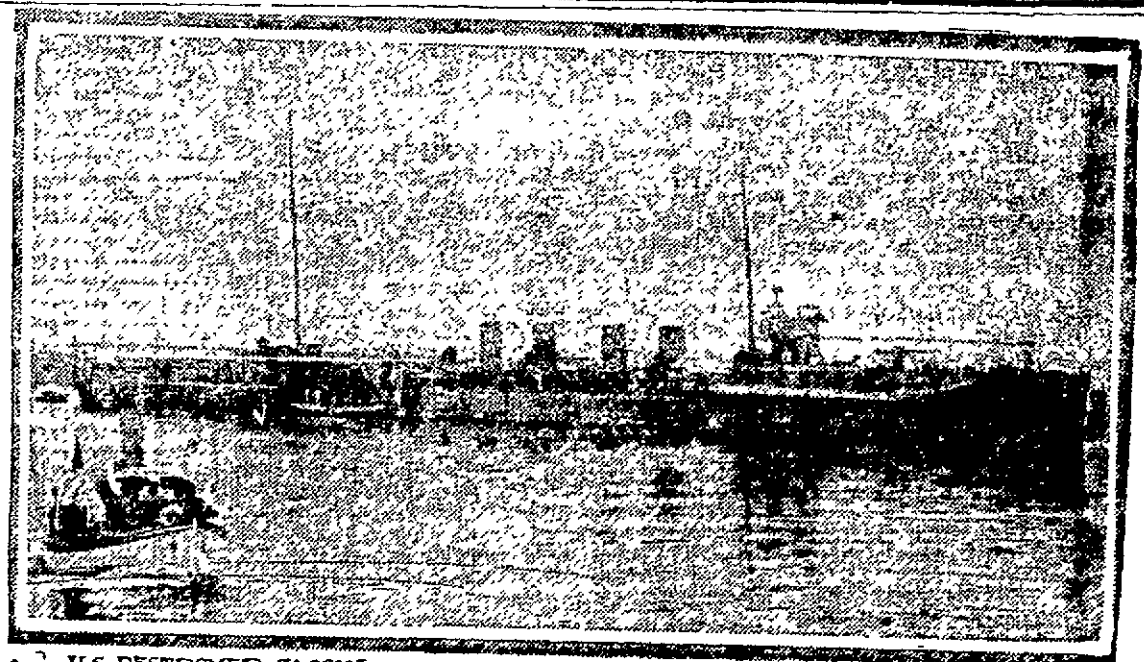

Business men often have excuses from debtors for nonpayment of accounts which give themselves away. A short time ago a firm had occasion to press for a much-overdue account. The usual letters were sent, first mild, second stronger, and the third ending up with the grand ultimatum, which brought the following reply: "Dear Sirs: I am writing you from bed, where I have been ill for several weeks." After enumerating all his family and business worries in a very long letter, he finished by saying: "When I have strength I will write you out a check."

To Clean Paint.

Direction for washing painted walls: Common baking soda works miracles. It has been found. Use two pails of tepid water, wet cloth, sprinkle a little of the soda on it and wash space that can be easily reached. Rinse in clear water and wipe dry. Be sure to wash in one direction in order to avoid streaks when dry. All grease and dirt will disappear with very little rubbing, and you will be pleased with results. Use the soda sparingly (a five-cent package will be sufficient for the average kitchen). In cleaning paint add a teaspoonful of kerosene oil to warm water.

Proverbial Wisdom.

All countries have sayings dealing with marriage, mostly taking rather cynical view. The Italians seem to take a fatalistic attitude, for they say, "In buying horses and in taking a wife, shut your eyes and commend yourself to God." A wholesome piece of advice is contained in the Hindu saying, "Women are wise offhand and fools on reflection—so take your wife's first advice and not her second." The Irish saying is very comforting. "A man's best fortune is his wife."

U.S. DESTROYER CASSIN.

U.S. DESTROYER TORPEDOED BY GERMAN U-BOAT.

The United States destroyer, Cassin, damaged by a submarine's torpedo, searched the sea for the U-boat for hours after being hit. The destroyer sighted the enemy once and sent four shells in rapid succession. They were so well aimed that the U-boat escaped only by a rapid dip. With one engine out of commission, the Cassin stuck to her post of duty until other destroyers arrived to relieve her. She then was towed to port.

In his report Admiral Sims praises Commander W. N. Vernon, his officers and the crew of the Cassin. Vice-Admiral Sims states that the behavior of the officers and the entire crew was admirable. There was no excitement on board, the men remaining quietly at their battle stations throughout the night, except when called to other duties.

Novel Electric Torch.

A novel electric torch consists of a wide-mouthed bottle, with a closely fitting rubber cork, through which a zinc and a carbon rod project to a third of the bottle's depth, and on top of which—connected to the rods—is mouthed a small lamp bulb. A solution of bichromate of potash and sulphuric acid in water half fills the bottle. When the bottle is inverted, the fluid is brought into contact with the rods, and sufficient current is generated to cause the lamp to glow.

Unframes Pictures.

To fasten unframed pictures on the wall so that the artist cannot tear them loose, take a narrow ribbon and brass tacks, and beginning at one corner, fasten the picture, then stretch the ribbon to the next corner of the picture, then another tack, and so on, clear around the picture. Use ribbon to harmonize with the color in your picture and the effect will be pretty.

Army Eagles of Napoleon.

Before Napoleon's time it had been the custom for armies to carry huge, unwieldy flags mounted on poles which, while they afforded a rallying point for their corps, also drew the enemy's fire. Napoleon revived the ancient symbol of the Caesars. The Napoleonic eagle itself was 8 inches in height and 9 inches across the wings. It stood on a brass block 3 inches square and weighed three and a half pounds. Modern colors, cumbersome as they are, are as nothing compared to the old ones, which were as difficult to hide as the big drum.

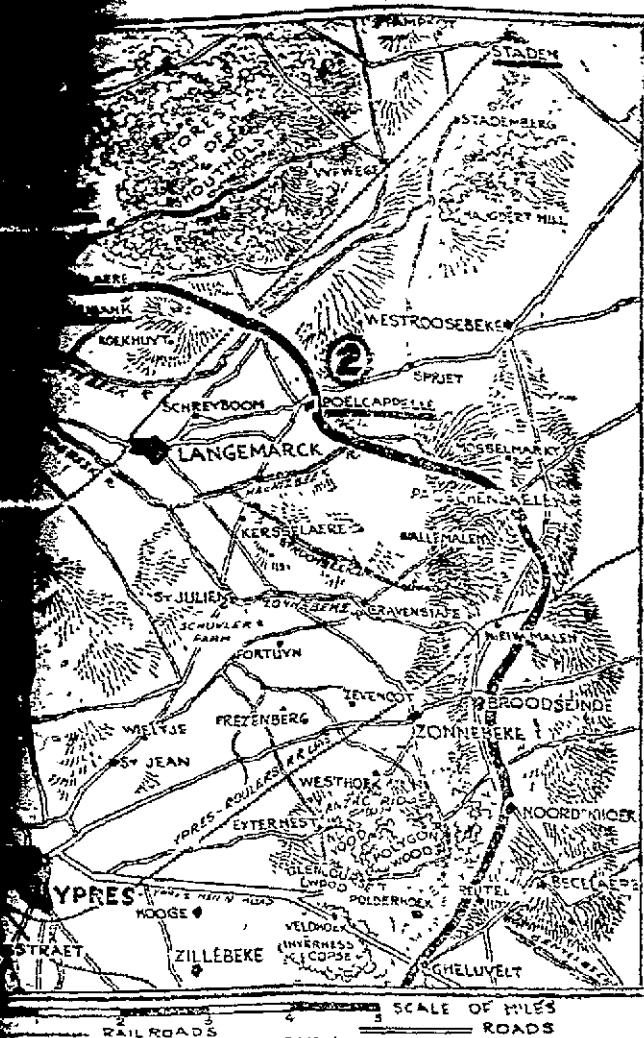

Device for the Armless.

A new device for armless men is described in the London Lancet. It is intended to enable soldiers who have lost both arms to turn over pages of books when reading, which is one of the greatest difficulties they have to contend with. It is an aluminum bar, standing on two metal legs, with a mouth pad of compressed fiber. At the other end is a rubber cap. Holding the pad in his teeth a man with a little practice can turn over pages readily.

Making Flour of Potatoes.

Potato drying is a comparatively new industry on this side; but dried potato flakes and potato flour are used extensively in Europe, where the flour is utilized in all kinds of bakery goods. The 1913 government report showed that imports of potato flour were 16,710,463 pounds. Potato flakes can be turned almost instantly into mashed potatoes and would be especially welcome in mining camps and in the home of the busy housewife who can "bring them to a boil and serve." Unsuitable potatoes and culls are now almost a total loss, and these may readily be converted into potato flour and products. The process of drying consists in steaming carefully cleaned potatoes, washing them and drying the mashed potatoes on revolving steam cylinders.—Philadelphia Record.

HAIG AGAIN DRIVES FORWARD.

King northeast of Ypres, General Haig's Franco-British army moved forward between (1) Diebank and (2) Poelcapelle. The attack had as its primary object the advancing of the allied left wing face with the wedge driven in the centre.

FITZSIMMONS-CORBETT FIGHT.

IN THE DAYS OF FITZ'S GLORY.

A photograph made at the height of Bob Fitzsimmons' career in the boxing arena, showing him in the ring, with Jim Corbett at a moment just before he put across the wallop that knocked out Corbett and won the Australian fighter the heavyweight championship of the world. The picture shows Corbett blocking Fitzsimmons' right. A moment later he sank his left to the solar plexus and put Corbett down for the count. The fight took place at Carson City, March 12, 1897.

Man Living Saw Napoleon.

The English papers report that Dr. Julius Lukacs of Budapest, uncle of a former Hungarian prime minister, has just celebrated the one hundred and fifteenth anniversary of his birth. He thinks that he is the oldest man in Europe, and unless later returns change the count, he is. In a recent interview Doctor Lukacs said that he remembers seeing the great Napoleon's second wife, Marie Louise of Austria, and their son, the so-called King of Rome, whose little life was ended off just as his training days were dawning and his days of performance began. Doctor Lukacs is safe enough in his memories; no one can contradict him. —Hartford Courant.

WHAT THEY MISS

"There's one unfortunate thing in connection with those who never worry."

"What is that?"

"They are entitled to a lot of credit they never get."

Summer Boarders.

"Do those city boarders of yours make themselves at home?"

"Nope. Some of them would never think of acing the way they do if they was in their own homes."

MEETING IN NEW YORK.
Lieutenant Vincent Jellicoe, nephew of the famous British admiral and a member of the Royal Flying Corps, is now in New York, where he addressed a Liberty Loan meeting held at Central Park Plaza under the auspices of the Women's Motor Corps, the National League for Women's Service. One of the members of the corps is seated on the platform in the foreground, and he is wearing a uniform with the words "Liberty Loan" on the sleeve.

JOHN IRWIN, AND FAMILY.

there. To say that he was scolded would scarcely express it. Mildred was very pretty, very much up to date, and the girl to whom he was most devoted. She had a smug, studied air, and was exceedingly bohemian and unconventional. For these reasons Mrs. Baxter knew she would not mind her unceremonious invitation to dine. If, however, she could not conceal his very evident delight at having the young lady to dinner, Mrs. Baxter promised her that Mr. Baxter would take her home in their car. But quite late that evening Mrs. Baxter on ordering the car heard that it could not be taken out on account of a break somewhere, so she begged the young lady to remain overnight, and take a motor trip with them to the seashore. Joel of course advised Mildred to remain.

Returning late, Mrs. Baxter again urged the girl to stay overnight, and the next day prevailed upon her to make them a visit of a few days. Mildred being something of the "salamander" type, all being fish that came to her net, and convincing herself that anything she could get out of 'old Baxter' was clear gain, very willingly remained. The next day Mrs. Baxter received a telegram saying a near relative was very ill. She told Mildred she must take the next train, and begged her as a great favor to "stay and take care of Mr. Baxter," she would not be gone long. But Mrs. Baxter's visit stretched out into weeks. She wrote often, speaking of the progress of the patient, and hoping to be soon home, adding she trusted Miss

Cook was taking good care of him.

During her self-imposed absence—there was no ill relative—Emma was doing some speculating as to the outcome. She was giving Joel a chance to find out if he really wanted to exchange her for the girl. Finally she decided to go home and face the result, bitter though it might be. Mildred met her, exultingly gowned and smiling. Emma found her husband up in his room looking tired and rather worn. He seemed glad to see her. But that was undoubtedly just a bluff.

"Good heavens! Joel what have you done to your hair! It's awful black in front, and three shades lighter in the back!" she exclaimed.

"Well, I tried to do it myself, and I made a mess of it," he explained.

Mrs. Baxter always "touched up" her husband's hair, and kept it a nice, even brown, and she carefully concealed her amusement at his discomfiture.

"Great Scott!" he growled, rummaging in the closet. "I bought two pairs of slippers since you've been gone! That fool maid never puts 'em where I can find 'em."

Again Emma concealed a smile.

"Look here, Emma,"

for dinner. I'm all in. I wish you'd have it sent up, and tell Mildred I'm not well enough to come down."

Emma found his slippers, made him comfortable, and promised to send up his dinner. Later on she heard from Mildred about the good times she had been having. Judging from the place where Joel had taken her, and the way she was talking, she was sure that he was not so worn, it was no wonder Joel looked so worn and tired.

The next evening Mrs. Barre caught Joel with his slippers on.

"There! I'll be hanged if I'll put them on! I'm going down just as am. If Mildred is shocked,"

"I haven't been shocked all these years when you didn't dress for the night," quietly observed Emma.

"No," he answered. "See here Emma, couldn't you tell Mildred you go to the mountains. We'll go away together, and have a good old rest."

Emma was so happy she made a errand into the next room to do away with the tears that would come.

ONE THING SMALL BOY KNEW

He Appreciated the Various Wonders of the Farm but Couldn't Ba Fooled About Tomatoes.

The little boy who lives in a bi apartment house where almost ever body else is grown up had just ti best time out in the country.

There were so many things to see and do that he was much to learn that he had to learn to walk in the way which was to turn the freckled little girl, who was a famous guide and exhibitor, was a famous one, most as much showing off the wonders of the farm as the little boy enjoyed in behaving them. Her knowledge was amazingly wide, but he caught her in one game mistake.

"These are tomatoes," she said, pointing the red and green globes hanging on their stems.

"No," courteously replied the little boy, "Tomatoes are the little red ones."

"They do, too!" returned Phenny.
"Can't you see 'em?"
"Yes," said the little boy, "I see them, but they are not tomatoes."
"Aw, they are, too!" insisted Phenny.
"It isn't polite to con—contradict (it was a pretty long word for the boy) —a lady. But tomatoes don't grow on weeds; they grow in cans."—Kansas City Star.

LEFT STEAMYACHT VIA ROWBOATS

High Water in Rondout Creek Wednesday Overlooked Docks and Passengers Were Rowed Ashore—Telephoned for a Tug.

The heavy rain fall of Wednesday caused the water in the Rondout creek to overflow the docks when the tide rolled in and the steamyacht C. A. Schultz found it impossible to make its landings, making it necessary for passengers aboard to be rowed ashore in rowboats late that afternoon when the water was at its height.

William B. Dinsmore, the Staatsburg millionaire, was forced to telephone over to the Cornell Line Wednesday afternoon from Rhinebeck asking that a tug be sent to his rescue to convey him to Ulsterport's shipyard at Connelly. It seems that he had gone in his launch from Staatsburg to Rhinebeck when a pipe burst in the engine room and compelled him to tie up at the Rhinebeck dock. The tug Earl was sent over the river and found that Mr. Dinsmore's boat had wrenched loose from its moorings and was drifting on the river. He was taken aboard and dried out in the engine room. He is a member of the government board having the construction work of the U-boat chasers in hand.

WIEDEMANN IS MAN FOR OFFICE

Supervisor Wiedemann of Fourth Ward is Republican Candidate for Re-election—A Life Long Resident of That Ward.

Supervisor Frederick Wiedemann, the Republican candidate for supervisor in the Fourth ward is one of the best known men, not only in his own ward but throughout the city, and his work as supervisor is such that he should be returned to the county legislature with a handsome majority. Supervisor Wiedemann has always been actively identified with the Republican party and is a

FREDERICK WIEDEMANN.

Life long resident of the Fourth ward where he has always interested himself in the betterment of conditions there.

For fourteen years Supervisor Wiedemann was employed in the grocery business of William Sahloff, and at the death of his father, John Wiedemann, he took over the coal business conducted by his father and has since carried it on. He is a man whose business integrity is unquestioned and is the type of man needed in the county legislature.

Supervisor Wiedemann has always taken an active interest in the civic welfare of the city, and is a man whose genial personality has made him liked not only by those residing in his own ward but throughout the city. He is the type of man who is known as "square" both in his business dealings and in his private life, and is a friend whose friendship is worth while.

That Supervisor Wiedemann will be returned to the county legislature by a handsome majority seems a foregone conclusion.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

LESS MEAT IN OUR DIET.

It is no doubt true that the majority of people buy for food the things that appeal to the eye rather than to the purse and appetite rather than buying with reference to the nutritive value of food, and this in spite of the fact that papers, magazines, lecturers and food experts are daily bringing before us the importance of food supply. Meat is a popular food because of its flavor, due to certain substances, called extractives. These extractives are in no sense nutritious, but have a stimulating effect upon the appetite and digestive organs, so that they are valuable aids in the digestion of foods. Too much meat eating, however, dulls the taste for milder, less highly flavored foods, and cloyed the appetite of the child for plain bread and butter.

One reason for the popularity of meats such as steaks and chops, is that they may be cooked and served in a few minutes. Meat being the main dish, other things having secondary importance, helps to solve the everyday problem of what to have for dinner. If the purse is ample there is no reason why we should exclude meat from our tables; but once a day for dinner is often enough to serve. In many experiments carried on by students it has been shown that a decrease of meat to one-sixth of the usual amount has made an actual increase in their capacity for physical endurance. Our faith in the strengthening property of meat has no doubt come down to us from our ancestors who from necessity lived largely on meat. We know by observation and statistics that the amount of meat consumed in our country is gradually being reduced and everybody concerned is better in health for such restrictions. The foods which may take the place of meat supplying the body with all that it needs to repair waste and give heat and energy, are milk, eggs, cheese, butter and peas and beans. By using these foods and cutting down the meat allowance the health will be better and the purse heavier.

BOOST SHANDAKEN, CRUICKSHANK MOTTO

Republican Nominee for Supervisor Trying to Develop Natural Resources of Town and Make it Business Center.

The Cruickshank family has been so long identified with the town of Shandaken that it was natural the Republicans should select James H. Cruickshank as their candidate for supervisor and his election will place in the board of supervisors a young man of energy and determination, whose acknowledged business ability will insure a business administration at a time when war conditions require one, whether paying taxes directly or indirectly, to consider carefully the expenditure of every dollar of public money.

JAMES H. CRUICKSHANK.

Mr. Cruickshank is president of the Big Indian Wood Products, Limited, and has shown a strong ambition to develop the home resources of Shandaken so as to make the town take a foremost place among the industrial centers of the county. The organization of the Big Indian Wood Products Company, Limited, is only one step in that direction. The natural resources of Shandaken are among the richest of any of Ulster county, and development at this time spells fortune for the town.

Mr. Cruickshank is 34 years old and resides at Big Indian, where his father, the late James Cruickshank, for many years was engaged in business and where he did much to develop the fame of the township. With his brother, who are associated with him in the Wood Products Company, he is the owner of 3,500 acres of land in the town, several houses and the factory from which wood products are being turned out. The factory of the company was destroyed by fire last fall, and the present factory, which employs about twenty people directly, and about the same number indirectly, in the woods, etc., is the first unit of the plant that has been rebuilt since last fall's fire. The business of the company is increasing rapidly and its chief product is now two-bushel crates, of which about 1,200 are produced daily.

Before his father retired from business, Mr. Cruickshank was engaged in the elevator business with factories in Philadelphia and New York. The opportunity for business development of the town of Shandaken appealed strongly to him and the first steps, indicated by the wood products plant at Big Indian, are only an indication of what the town of Shandaken may expect in the future. This spirit of development, coupled with the fact that Mr. Cruickshank is one of the largest taxpayers in the town, gives an assurance of every effort on his part to further the interest of the town and keep down the tax rate for the mutual benefit of every citizen.

Mr. Cruickshank is 34 years old, is married and has two children. He never has been in politics before, but his past record of performance brings forth to everyone the fact that the same determination to do his work thoroughly and right that has characterized him in business will be used by him as supervisor to the end that the town of Shandaken may become all that its citizens are ambitious to see it.

TILLSON.

Tillson, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Rachel Dunbar has returned to her home in Kingston, after spending some time here. Mrs. H. D. Craig accompanied her for a few days.

The Misses Gladys and Marguerite Christiana visited at Accord over Sunday.
